

2022 Northern Plains Weather Workshop Call for Papers

The 14th Northern Plains Weather Workshop will be held in the Atwood Center on the campus of St. Cloud State University, St. Cloud, MN on 12-13 October 2022. This conference is an opportunity for meteorologists, practitioners, and enthusiasts in the public-sector, private-sector, academic, broadcast, and emergency-management communities to collaborate and share ideas before the worst of the winter weather arrives. Registration will be $130 and includes the keynote luncheon and refreshments. See npww.org to register.

We welcome presentations about any weather and weather-related topics, including hydrology, emergency management, and more, pertaining to the Northern Plains and vicinity. We look forward to your participation in this year's conference. Please email your abstract to ahs@stcloudstate.edu by Monday, 3 October 2022.